PROGRAMS OF EASTER MUSIC

Elaborate Preparations Made for Celebration Tomorrow

FAIR DAY PROBABLE

Lenten Season Will Pass Away Tonight, to be Followed by Rejoicing In Church and Home.

According to custom, the Gazette publishes today the music which will be rendered in the various churches of Alexandria tomorrow (Easter Sunday). While the programs are more elaborate in Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran Churches, the spirit of the joyous occasion animates all churches and all classes and services appropriate to the occasion will be held virtually by all Christians.

The heavy cloud which pased over this city and neighborhood late yesterday, at a time when church bells were muffled, and the piously-disposed were meditating upon the great sacrifice for humanity made in far-away Jersusalem over nineteen hundred years ago, cast thinking folks into a deeper reverie. Copious showers were falling, the sun was darkened and the wind at times was very heavy, but the gradual breaking of the clouds later was suggestive of bright sunshine tomorrow when peans of praise will ascend from all hearts on the anniversary of the resurrection morn.

The following will be the order of exercises in the various churches tomorrow:

GERMANY AND UNITED STATES

Austria-Hungary Averse to Severing Diplomatic Relations

GERMANY FOR PEACE

Von Bernstorff, it is Believed in Washington, Has Worked to Prevent Rupture

Rome, April 22—Austria will bring strong pressure to bear to prevent Germany from breaking with the United States, it was learned here today from neutral diplomatic sources.

Hungarian statesmen in particular desire that Germany yield to the United States, rather than bring matters to a break. It was their influence that caused Austria to back down completely in the Ancona negotiations with the United States.

Washington, April 22—Germany does not want war with the United States.

The United States does not want war with Germany.

The leading thinking, understanding men among the allied nations do not want the United States in the war because they believe their cause will ultimately be better served by keeping it out of the war.

Therefore, even if diplomatic relations should be severed, the chances are against a breach of the peace, but the danger of war would be greatly enchanced in such a situation.

This is a summary of the views expressed by a public man who is universally regarded as one of a half dozen of the country's foremost authorities in international matters.

There is, however, a general belief now that the authorities in Germany sincerely want to avoid war. In that event their effort will be to continue dicussion by making a reply that will invite further parleys.

It is widely believed in Washington that Count von Bernstorff has for many months been engaged in a determined effort to save his country from war with the United States.

In this, it is believed he has been opposed in Berlin by a strong element of the extreme militaristic party.

The German ambassador understand fully what the moral and economic consequences of America's belligerency would be. The influence of Greece and Roumania would be of the first importance, probably causing Roumania to join the allies and before long precipitating a revolution in Greece which would dethrone King Constantine and bring Greece into the war on the side of the allies.

Holland would be less likely to influence its course by reason of these considerations, because Holland is so literally between the devil and the deep sea, and has been so intimate with the horrors of Belgium's fate.

CASE OF DOROTHY ARNOLD

Body Found in Cellar in Place Indicated by Convict

New York, April 22—Police Inspector Faurot returned from West Point last night, after making an examination of the place where Edward C. Glenoris, a convict, said the body of Dorothy Arnold had been buried. The inspector refused to say more than to admit he expected "satisfactory results." Much secrecy surrounded the trip.

It was learned from another source however, that a body had been found in the cellar. It was so badly decomposed that identification was impossible.

At midnight an automobile containing detectives drew up in front of the West Sixty-eighth street police station.

One of the detectives said the body had been found.

"We are up in the air," he said. "We do not know whether it is that of a man or a woman."

The father of the missing girl refused to place any credence in the convict's confession. But inspector Faurot went secretly to work. And yesterday when he started on his trip to police headquarters, it was rumored he had found many corroborating details.

TRAIN ROBBERIES

Bandit for Whom Reward is Offered Makes Third Raid

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 22—The robber who has held up two fast Union Pacific trains within the last 60 days and for whom there is a reward of $6,500 dead or alive, last night captured the guard on Union Pacific train No. 21, forced him to pass the hate to the passengers on the observation car, and then to accompany him through one of the sleepers, where the passengers also were robbed.

Then the robber umped from the train and escaped.

Alexandria, La., April 22—The express safe and mail pouches on the Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company's passenger train, which arrived here early yesterday were robbed at Mansura, La., about 30 miles south. C. L. Phillips, express messenger, stated one man committed the robbery and escaped with about $350 Phillips was taken to a hospital suffering from wound about the head inflicted by the robber. Phillips said the robber was not masked. He leaped from the train near here. No trace of the bandit has been obtained.

HUNGARIAN SITUATION

Milan, April 22—Reports received daily from Switzerland about Austria indicate that something is brewing regarding the Hapsburg monarchy, one significant symptom being the unanimous outburst of invocations for peace in the Hungarian press.

Premier Asquith has become, in the minds of the Hungarian writers, the saviour of thesituation. They commend his speech with more enthusiasm than that of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg.

FRENCH DELIVER HEAVY BLOWS

Win Back Much Ground on Both Sides of River Meuse

LIQUID FIRE FAILS

Parade of Muscovites in Marseilles Cheered by Hugh Crowds Amid Great Enthusiasm

Paris, April 22—Using liquid fire, the Germans last night hurled heavy forces against theFrench front northwest of Verdun.

They succeeded in occupying trenches on the slopes of Dead Man's Hill but were completely thrown out by a French counter-attack, the war office announced today.

London, April 22. —The French army at Verdun not only continues to strike, but it is striking hard.

One this, the sixty-first day of the great battle, the Paris war office announces the capture of more German trenches and prisoners west of the Meuse and an equally complete winning on the east side of the river.

The expressions of impatience over General Joffre's "overplay" of the waiting strategy are now succeeded by a frevent belief that the commander-in-chief is convinced the moment for a concentrated offensive has come.

Meanwhile, the Germans are also active. Following a terrific bombardment of the Haumont-Vaux front, east of the Meuse, the Kaiser's troops yesterday launched a furious attack which enabled them to capture certain trenches near Douaumont. But it was only a temporary gain, and under cover of darkness the French assaulted the new German position, and completely drove them out.

Paris, April 22.—Forcing the fighting, the French continue to make progress on both sides of the Mesue. Gain was made in the region of Dead Man's Hill, on the Verdun front, in the fighting of Thursday night. The War Office announcement reports the capture there of German trenches and of four officers and 150 men. East of the Meuse a fierce German attack was repulsed. In the sector south of Haudremont wood the French made gains.

The Russian troops which reached Marseilles yesterday continue to be the centre of enthusiastic demonstrations there from crowds in the approaches to Camp Mirabeau, where the newly-arrived force is quartered. The Russians show no ill effects of thir long journey and already are engaged in exercise and drills, displaying the fine equipment.

Petrograd reports that the Russian Caucasian army continues on the offensive against the Turks in the black Sea district of Asia Minor. Constantinople, in acknowledging the capture of Trebizond by the Russians, says the town already had been evacuated in anticipation of its capture, the Turkish troops withdrawing "in accordance with instructions to a sector where they will have a new task to fulfill."

Another defeat of the British in the Tigris region, near Felahie, is reported by Constantinople. The British are declared to have been forced, with heavy losses, from the positions they had occupied, and compelled to retreat westward.

PAYNE AFTER FISHERMEN

Last Sunday, he says, four men were seen gilling at the White House. The fine ranges from $5 to $50 with costs, of course, added.

It is unlawful to put a seine or net into the water on Sunday, and the warden announces that he will prosecute all who may violate the law.

DEMAND FOR HOT CROSS BUNS

Many Alexandrians Celebrated Custom Dating From the Days of Pharaoh

Pancakes are generally indulged in on Shrove Tuesday, at the beginning of Lent, and the custom of eating hot cross buns on Good Friday is gradually becoming general in Alexandria. Bakers sell great quantities of these inviting products every year.

It may not be generally known, but it is a fact that this custom was in vogue centuries before the Christian era.

Back to the days of Egyptian paganism the hot cross bun habit started with the offering of cakes to the moon goddess.

The thousands who went to church yesterday knew exactly why they went, and why the ceremony of the adoration of the cross was held and why the priests celebrated the mass of the presanctified though but few of them knew that the hot cross buns were of as sacred origin as any of the other customs.

The world's first hot cross buns were marked with the horns of an ox, for the moon goddess, to which they were offered as a sacrifice, wore horns in those days. Later the Greeks marked them with a cross, representing probably the four quarters of the moon, which was still the deity. So they came on down through the ages, a symbol of worship on Good Friday by Mexicans, Peruvians, Greek, French, Romans, and finally the English, who are said to have "done a good trade in buns and cakes stamped with a cross as far back as 1252," despite royal proclamations forbidding the practice.

They have lost some of their sacred identity. For instance, there is nothing particularly sacred about the childhood rhyme, supposed to represent the street cry of the English baker with his call:

"If your daughter don't like 'em,
give 'em to your sons,
One-a-penny, two-a-penny, hot cross buns."

Probably the descendant of the original hot cross buns was the Holy Eucharist in the Good Friday services in Greek Catholic churches yesterday. There the host was marked with a cross in strict observance of a custom ages old in the Greek church.

DEATH OF MISS FLYNN

Famous Horsewoman Succumbs to Injuries Received in Drag Hunt

Miss Mabel Flynn, 32, of Warrenton, who was one of this country's most famous horsewomen, died at 5:30 yesterday afternoon at Emergency Hospital as the result of injuries received in a drag hunt at Warrenton on April 15. Miss Flynn was brought to the Washington hospital immediately after the accident. She regained consciousness that day but her injuries were such that recovery was despaired of by the physician soon after she was brought to the Capital.

Miss Flynn was riding to the hounds at the Warrenton Hunt Club when the accident happened. She was trying to take a fence when her mount fell. Miss Flynn was thrown and the horse landed on her, breaking several bones and injuring her internally

Miss Flynn was one of the best known woman riders in her State, having ridden at practically all the horse shows in Virginia. She rode frequently at Madison Square Garden in New York and at Long Beach. She had been in attendance at many of the recent meetings in New York.

Perhaps the most famous mount she rode was Robin Adair, the property of Mr. Johnson, which won nearly 150 blue ribbons in this country. She was riding this famous horse when he won his hundredth blue ribbon.

Her sister, Mrs. Blair Johnson, is equally well-known as a rider, and her brother-in-law, Mr. Johnson, is the manager of the Warrenton Hunt Club.

TAFT UPHOLDS THE PRESIDENT

Former Executive Says This is Duty of all Patriots

SIDETRACK POLITICS

If Germany Continues Her Course it is Difficult to Avoid Break With That Country.

Chicago, April 22—Former President Taft, in a speech before the Mystic Athletic Club yesterday afternoon urged everybody, regardless of party, to support President Wilson against Germany.

"Personally, as a Republican," he said, "I trust that we may effect a change in the complexion of the administration next November, but this is neither the time nor the place to indulge in political personalities. If Germany refuses to heed the warning that has been sent her, and Count von Bernstorff is given his passport, it does not follow of necessity that war will ensue. But, if Germany continues her submarine warfare in such a way as to drown noncombatant Americans as in the case of the Lusitania and the Sussex, it is difficult to see how war can be avoided.

"No one prays more earnestly than I that such a result may be averted, and that Germany, facing the consequences of needlessly making another enemy, shall change her policy and enable us to keep our friendly relations with her. In view of the critical nature of the issue, however, is there anything for a clear-headed, patriotic American to do but to back up our President—the man who is our choosen constitutional leader?

"Careful consideration of present conditions emphasizes the necessity for immediate and adequate military preparedness. Conditions now are little better than at the time President Cleveland blustled England in connection with the Venezuelan incident. It took colossal nerve to tell Great Britain to keep her hand off when our total provision for coast defense consisted of but one gun to protect the entire Atlantic coast.

"Comparatively speaking, we are no better off now; we have not enough battle cruisers, torpedo-boats, submarines, aeroplanes, ammunition or men. These things cannot be created in a moment. It takes time and money and the earnest support of a united people.

"Mexico, the 'international nuisance' on our southern border, has taught us a lesson that American citizens should take to heart. Practically every soldier in the country is either in Mexico or on the border. If anything happens elsewhere—

"We need and must have a navy equal in strength to that of any nation which can mobilize an army of 500,000 men or more—a navy sufficiently powerful to resist successfully an attempt on the part of a foreign power of that strength to land an army on our shores. While these things are being done, we must demand with all the emphasis possible respect for American rights and a positive demonstration of our undaunted determination to carry our demands to their ultimate and logical consequences."

WORK OF SCHOOL NURSE

Splendid Work Accomplished Among School Children of Alexandria.

Following is a summary of the work done by Miss Mary Monroe, the school nurse since she started Dec., 9th, 1915.

The mornings are spent in the schools, (High school, Lee, Washington and West End), visiting the rooms, assisting Dr, Powell in his work of examining the children, dressing slight injuries and giving such other attention as the children require.

The co-operation of the parents has been very gratifying, not one instance of complaint or opposition has come to the attention of the nurse, but constant requests for advice and assistance, are daily brought by the children from their mothers.

Seven hundred and twenty-two visits have been made to the homes, the visiting being done usually in the afternoon and sometimes on Saturday; this part of the work has seemed especially important in helping not only the child in school but the opportunity to help the younger children is far reaching. The nurse has found that a knowledge of the home life of the child and an acquaintance with the mother through a little personal visit, are among the essentials of success.

Fifty-four visits have been made to the different oculists and eye clinics, and results in this line have been probably the most satisfactory, of all, as few people realize the eye conditions among school children. In some instances the parents do not realize, in other they realize but are unable to give the needed attention. Through the generosity of friends, the nurse has been able to assist and in some cases to entirely defray the expense of glasses, where it was absolutely impossible for the children to get them, otherwise and without them, sight, would in course of time be entirely lost.

The physicians, oculists and dentists have been ever ready to give free treatment to those unable to pay and their unfailing courtesy has added to the pleasure of the School Nurse's work.

Many children have been out of school for want of suitable clothing, and here again the generosity of friends has saved the day. Church societies as well as other organizations and individuals have furnished money for shoes and quantities of good second hand clothing for both boys and girls have been sent to the nurse, thus keeping many a child in school through the winter months, who would otherwise have been beyond the reach of assistance. To tell in detail of the generous help accorded the nurse by interested friends, would require too much space, but it has solved many a problem in the day's work.

Most of the work is among the younger children, but during February and March, "First-aid" classes were held at the High School once a week, and the attendance was excellent.

The school nurse in her day's work sees much that saddens and depresses, but much more that encourages and cheers; the field is wide and ever widening and only one with a clear vision can see how far it will reach in the days to come.

Call has been issued by State Chairman Percy S. Stephenson for the State convention of the Progressive party, which will be held in Roanoke at noon May 12, for the purpose of naming delegates to the national convention of the Progressive party to be held in Chicago June 7.

EASTER AND WHAT IT MEANS.

At this fearful crisis in mundane affairs, when wars and rumors of war are distressing the peace-loving and when, in the words of the Saviour Himself, "men's hearts are failing them for fear of those things which are coming upon the eath," the celebration of Easter appeals more than ever to the thoughtful. The resurrection from the dead, an inborn truth in every soul, Christian as well as pagan, at times rises above all other meditations. The Chaldean patriarch, long before the advent of the Christian era asked, "If a man die shall he live again?" An agnostic Senator many years ago while delivering an eulogy over a deceased member said this query remains to be answered.

Christians believe the question was answered when the Great Author of Faith appeared to men after having been put to death. There is more evidence to corroborate this fact than any other event which has occurred in the history of the world. The anniversary of this momentous event is celebrated on Easter.

But the world was full of Sadducees in the days of Christ. They did not believe in the resurrection, angels nor spirits. They had a representative, it seems, among the twelve apostles, one of whom would not believe until he had placed his hand into the spear wound in the Saviour's side and examined the prints in His hands made by the nails. He was told that he believed because he had seen, but a greater blessing was pronounced upon all who believe and have not seen.

The Bible contains many startling pictures in minature of the resurrection of the dead. On the Mount of Transfiguration Moses, who had been dead about fifteen hundred years, and Elijah who left the world about eight centuries before, were seen alive and talking. This was the kingdom of heaven coming with power which was witnessed by a chosen trio.

Hundreds of year before Ezekiel, prophet of the captivity, had enjoyed a picture far more elaborate. He had seen the entire house of Israel shake off death and stand erect; he had seen them conducted back to their own land, surrounded by great blessings and with David a prince among them.

Easter runs far back in history. Our northern ancestors looked up to a deity they termed Eostre, or Ostara, which they regarded as the goddess of spring. After huddling together during the gloomy winter, they longed for the approach of spring, when a revival of nature would take place. They personified the elements while gazing upon the aurora borealis and icebergs, and experiencing the piercing winds from the arctic zone. They knew nothing of revelation, but the passing of bleak winter, emblem of death, and the advent of spring was to them indicative of another and far more important resurrection. Like the natives of San Salvador, when the Spaniards landed on this continent, they never heard of the Gospel, but they were living in its spirit.

SEASONABLE REMINDER.

Of more than ordinary interest at the present time is a book written by Herr Huebner, of Germany, and published 160 years ago. The title of the book is "The Seizure of Neutral Ships, or the Right of Belligerent Nations to Arrest and Hold the Ships of a Friendly Power."

The book is dedicated to Monseignour Le Baron de Bernstorff, the great-great-grandfather of the present German Ambassador to the United States. The translation giving the views of a German who was considered an authority on international law reads:

Belligerents are solidly responsible to neutral states for the acts of their officers and captains of privateers by virtue of express orders or in conformity with letters of marque with which they are provided, and as all this can be a fruitful source of fraud and of ruses without number, neutral nations ought to judge for themselves the conduct of the military, in their own courts of justice.

If the officers of a belligerent insult the subjects of a neutral power without being authorized by a common concession, nor by general instruction, nor by a particular order, then this belligerent is free to ratify or not the measure of his officers. If he approve their conduct this sanction would warrant reprisals. If the belligerent, on the contrary, disavows the acts of his military or his subjects, then these actions can press for mere brigandage and the crime in no way reflects upon the nation. It is understood, of course, that he shall render justice to the party suffering and deliver to the offended power the culprits, if he demand it, to be punished according to the laws of the neutral power sustaining the indignity.

In 1744, Lord Carteret, now Count Granville, at that time Secretary of State, declared in the name of Her Britiannic Majesty, to Sieur Andrie, Minister of the King of Prussia to London, that his master's subjects were free to trade everywhere, provided they refrained from carrying munitions of war to the enemies of Great Britain or provisions or food to any place besieged or blockaded, but as to other things, commerce would remain free to neutral nations upon the same footing that obtained in time of peace.

Neutral ships, observing strict neutrality as to their commerce, navigation and all their industry, remain upon the same footing in war as in time of full peace and unless they take some part in the war, they are as free and as safe by the universal law of humanity in the midst of the horrors of war as in the calm the most profound peace.

A state of war gives to the nations fighting the advantage of being always armed and everywhere prepared but it does not give them any right upon independent people. They take advantage of their armed condition when they insult those who, relying upon the protection of the sacred laws of humanity and living in a profound peace with all the world, not thinking to secure their rights by force of arms, are suddenly attacked. It is an action unjust and unworthy of any sovereign or even of any man, to injure one who has never offended, but the injuries redouble when one oppresses him by a sacrilegious abuse of good faith and under the veil of friendship.

THE RUSSIANS IN FRANCE

(Baltimore American)

Reports as to the number of Russian troops landed in France differ. But there is no reason to believe, in view of the great length of passage that this first installment of the forces of the Czar upon the west front number much more than twenty-five thousand. But these are doubtless to be followed by rapidly enlarging numbers until the Allies upon the front that are so severely attacked by German prowess shall be a most considerable reinforcement to the French ,Belgians and British.

The necessity for drawing from the East for the West points to the indifferent ability of the British to supply men for their part of the burden that rests upon the Westside fighters. The British have proven a disappointment and even now they are engaged in trying over again the voluntary system.

The presence of the Russians indicates the weakness of the Allies without them and there is as much satisfaction for the Germans in their calling in as to the Allies. For to the former it shows that the fall of Verdun is a matter of serious apprehension.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Twenty persons were killed and a number of others injured yesterday in an explosion in the powder branch of a grenade factory in Bordeaux.

The Rev. James H. W. Walker, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of St. James, Minn., who preached the late Gov. W. S. Hammond's funeral sermon recently, shot and killed himself yesterday. The tragedy was an accident, the minister being killed while examining a gun he did not know was loaded.

Hail, rain and wind sweping over York county, Pa., yesterday afternoon caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars. Believing that he was bearing an important message to President Wilson on the German submarine issue, a man who said he was Adam S. Farlow, 46, of Lancaster, Pa., was caught battering down a door on the east front of the Capitol at 7 o'clock last night. Papers found on the man, the police say, show that he was a United States mail clerk, running between Pittsburgh and New York City. He had no weapons on him, and only a small amount of cash.

The Lokal Anzeiger, of Berlin, publishes an interview with Dr. von Lentze, Prussian Finance Minister, in which he forecasts great financial difficulties not only for the German Empire but for the individual states of the empire. He expresses the belief that it may be necessary for the empire to levy direct taxes upon the states, notwithstanding the fact that the German Constitution does not provide for such measures. The prologation of the war, Dr. Von Lentze contends, compels recognition of hard facts.

There is little doubt that the present crisis between America and Germany will cause huge blocks of American securities to be dumped on the market within the next few days. In the first place, a large amount of American paper is to be turned over by England to France, to be used as security pending for the French loan in the United States. It is believed that an early sale of such holdings will be deemed advisable, in view of the certain slump in the New York market in event of war with Germany.

More than 200 Carranza soldiers, under command of Gen. Jacinto Trevino, military governor of Coahuila, were killed and 300 wounded last Saturday, when Villistas, under Gen. Vanuto Reyes, blew up their military train on the old Coahuila and Pacific Railway. The train also carried a number of refugees. Many women and children were also killed by the explosion that wrecked the train. The cars caught fire after the wreck and scores of the wounded were burned to death. Gen. Trevino narrowly escaped with his life, feigning death when the Villistas killed many who had survived the wreck.

Orders to speed up repair and overhaul work on vessels of the Atlantic fleet have been sent to the commandants of the various navy yards by Secretary Daniels. In case of labor shortage the commandants are instructed to expedite the work by employing the ships' personnel. Orders have been given to hurry the construction of the United States naval radio station at Point Isabel, Tex., 22 miles south of Brownsville, on the Gulf of Mexico. Work on the station, intended as a relay station for messages from the Panama Canal Zone and warships in Mexican ports, was held up several months owing to delayed steel shipments.

Senator Claude A. Swanson, who is a member of the foreign relations committee, answered the same question in a similar way.

Governor Stuart has made it plain that he will not interfere in the jail terms of men who are convicted of violation of the liquor laws. He makes it very plain that such persons will have to serve terms in jail when the juries pronounce them guilty.For a long time violations of the law at Colonial Beach have been frequent and notorious, and Gov. Stuart and Attorney General Pollard were forced to take a hand in the matter. E. H. Costenbader was fined $150 and given sixty days in jail, but the Governor refused to interfere in his case and he will go to jail and pay the fine imposed.

AFTER 4 YEARS

Alexandria Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is an Alexandria story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. Nannie Scott, 110 Prince St, Alexandria says: "I suffered from severe pains through my back and loins. I was unable to rest well and in the morning felt tired and worn-out. I also had frequent dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me in every way and it is a pleasure for me to recommend them to other kidney suffers." (Statement given November 2, 1910.)

On April 9, 1915, Mrs. Scott said: "I am still as enthusiastic over Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was when I gave my first recommendation. I have always received splendid results whenever I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy— get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Scott had. Foster Mill burn Ca., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day. N. C. 128
